Dear Friends,

Power is defined as “the ability to control and to influence or to produce a desired result.” To be certain, there are levels of power, but let’s also be clear, we all possess it in some measure. We know that the generations before us understood and applied this knowledge well. They harnessed their collective power to change America by advancing a civil rights agenda that created unprecedented prosperity for Black children and families.

They marched. Sometimes, they sat. Many were arrested. But, they did whatever it took to own their power. Today, education has become one of America’s newest civil rights battlefields. And I must ask each of us to answer a question: what are you willing to do to help our children own their power and win in life? Because if we don’t own our power and lead in our classrooms, in our family rooms and in our community centers, we will have lost.

As we come together for this annual celebration of the 46th Annual Conference of the National Black Child Development Institute to honor the hard work that has been done, I hope that you feel reconnected to the empowering legacy on which we stand to do even more. Because that’s what it’s going to take—much more. Our children need us to do whatever it takes for as long as it takes to help them succeed. “‘Til victory is won.” That was a promise some of us made in the civil rights era. It’s a promise others of us can keep today. We will fight on; for our children, for our families and for our communities.

Thank you for all that you do in this fight and for joining us for what will be an awe-inspiring conference!

Sincerely,

Tobeka G. Green

46th ANNUAL CONFERENCE

NBCDI’s Annual Conference is a conference like no other. It is a family reunion, a meeting of the minds and a celebration. It is a chance to connect with people who share your mission, passion and dedication, both in your own field and across disciplines. It is where you find the right mix of resources and tools, innovation and inspiration.
Welcome Reception and Movie Screening of “Strange Fruit Redux”

National Black Child Development Institute is pleased to welcome you to our 46th Annual Conference in Orlando, FL, immediately followed by our movie presentation, “Strange Fruit Redux,” directed and produced by Dr. Hakim Rashid.

Professional Headshot Photo Session

Celebrate your brilliance, beauty and handsomeness by getting a new professional head shot to enhance your executive portfolio. The Brand You basic package includes a personalized styling and grooming session, a professional headshot photo session, an edited framed image and a digital downloadable file of your edited headshot via email.

Book Signing with Marc Lamont Hill

Our Closing Luncheon speaker, academic, journalist, author, activist and television personality Marc Lamont Hill will sign copies of his new book, “Nobody: Causalities of America’s War on the Vulnerable, from Ferguson to Flint and Beyond,” scheduled for release in August 2016, immediately following the Closing Plenary Luncheon.

Evelyn K. Moore Early Childhood Leadership Institute

Saturday, October 1
1:00 PM – 3:00 PM

You are invited to join the National Black Child Development Institute for the annual Evelyn K. Moore Early Childhood Leadership Institute. This year’s Institute will feature the release of “Being Black is Not a Risk Factor – Florida.” Come and learn from experts and organizations throughout the state, working across multiple issues that impact Black children, their families and our communities. This is an incredible session not to be missed!

Opening Plenary

Saturday, October 1
3:30 PM – 5:30 PM

For 46 years, NBCDI has worked tirelessly alongside dedicated leaders and servants, like you, to ensure that Black children and families have access to high-quality education, culturally relevant resources and curriculum and community resources and supports to help make sure they are healthy.

Each year, we come together to celebrate and recognize our achievements as well as to renew our energy for the work ahead. This year, we also come to challenge our nation and our systems to do more, faster, because our children, families and communities across the country need much more from all of us if we're going to succeed in our aims.

Join us, and special guest speakers, for the rousing Opening Plenary to our 46th Annual Conference with the fierce urgency of today's times to meet us in that challenge “'Til Victory Is Won.”

Welcome Reception and Movie “Strange Fruit Redux”

Saturday, October 1
5:30 PM – 8:00 PM

As NBCDI welcomes you to Orlando, join us for a captivating networking reception to be immediately followed by our presentation of "Strange Fruit Redux," directed and produced by Dr. Hakim Rashid. The film chronicles the perils of young Black boys in early childhood education.

Legacy Voices

Sunday, October 2
9:00 AM – 10:30 AM

NBCDI and its members have a long history that is steeped in tradition. Two of the celebrated traditions of the descendants of the Black diaspora are honoring our elders and maintaining the sacredness of our oral traditions. Please join the Council of Elders in this annual celebration recognizing our rich legacy.

Gospel Jazz Awards Brunch

Sunday, October 2
11:00 AM – 1:00 PM

Please join us for our second annual awards event. We continue to celebrate the amazing contributions made by local educators, our Affiliates, media and corporate leaders that support our mission. We promise another soul-stirring and rejuvenating experience as we celebrate the best of the best in our network and field.

Men of NBCDI

Sunday, October 2
1:15 PM – 3:15 PM

For men only! All men attending the conference are invited to gather with the Men of NBCDI to discuss the pertinent issues of the day, engage in dialogue from the male perspective and develop strategies to mobilize more men as champions in the fields of early care and education, positive youth development and Black male achievement.
Special Workshop Session Featuring: Evelyn K. Moore, Founder of NBCDI

Monday, October 3
8:30 AM – 10:00 AM

Please join our founder, Evelyn K. Moore and her colleague, Louise Derman-Sparks for their special workshop session entitled, “The Tale of Two Ypsilanti Perry Preschool (1962-1967) Teachers: What We Did & What We Learned.”

The Ypsilanti Perry Preschool was the site of a famous longitudinal study on the impact of early childhood education on children’s lives. Its positive outcomes became a major argument around the world for investing in early childhood programs, especially for children living in great poverty. However, the voices of the teachers in the Perry Preschool have been absent from the publications and discourse about the program, resulting in misconceptions about its core components. This workshop presents a portrait of the Ypsilanti Perry Preschool from the perspective of two of its original teachers as well as lessons for current ECCE thinking and practice. Our hope is to clarify and deepen discourse about an important part of early childhood education history.

This is a must attend special workshop session.

Becoming an NBCDI Affiliate (Brown Bag Session)

Monday, October 3
12:30 PM – 1:15 PM

For 46 years, NBCDI has been at the forefront of engaging caregivers, policymakers and advocates around issues that impact Black children and families. With the support of its National Affiliate Network in communities across the country, NBCDI is committed to its mission “to improve and advance the quality of life for Black children and families through education and advocacy.” In this brown bag session, you will learn what it takes to become an Affiliate and about the rewards of the work.

Monday Night Special Event

Monday, October 3
7:00 PM – 11:00 PM

Our special guest hosts are TBA.

Closing Luncheon Plenary

Tuesday, October 4
12:30 PM – 2:00 PM

Please join us as we close the conference as only NBCDI can do. Our special guest speaker is CNN contributor, journalist, author, activist and professor of African American Studies at Morehouse College, Marc Lamont Hill. He'll invite us to think more critically about our nation and challenge us to do more for our country's most vulnerable, while NBCDI reflects on the conference and past year and charts the course for 2017. It promises to be another rousing and victorious close to our time together until we meet again.

Mr. Hill will be available to sign his new book, “Nobody: Causalities of America’s War on the Vulnerable, from Ferguson to Flint and Beyond,” for 30 minutes immediately following the luncheon.

A Town Hall Discussion:
The Intersection of Educational Equity and Criminal Justice

Monday, October 3
10:15 AM – 12:15 PM

It's an election year and everyone is assessing the presidential candidates based on their commitment to address the issues that have the most significant impact on their checkbooks, their families, their employment and their communities. This town hall will focus on education and what's needed to ensure that our nation's Black children get the start in life they need to succeed. It's a continuation of the Black Male Achievement and Criminal Justice Plenary from last year's conference that had attendees asking for more. Join us as we continue to identify solutions that will challenge our systems and equip our communities.
